PROTEAN 1 ORDS

In the fourth section of the interstate commerce bill there are some half dezen words, seemingly of small anguificance, but which yet may be found to mean a great deal One might think they were thrown in shiely to round out the sentence and give it f got of fulness and sonorousness jet they may be found of vital im portance in the operation of the rallways unler be act, and in the interpretation of the act by courts of law

The famous fourth section exacts that "it shall be unlawful for any common carrier sub-ject to the provisions of his act to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggrereceive any greater compression in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or of like kind of property, at he substant alth similar circumstances are conditions, for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line, in the same direction, the choiter be ag included within the longer distance. A little attention to the words we have all divid, in their relation to the context, will show that they may give great latting to the railways. Placed where they are, for the purpose of giving case and play to the otherwise regords conditions of an elaborately constructed act, and applied to the elaborately constructed act, and applied to the multitudiacus forms of rainway business, the munitosinous forms of illway business, the words are likely to be found extremely electic, and even process, in their character. A howse in San Francisco or in Portland wants a train Paul of a certain description of goods from the wast "house in Virginia City or in Walla. dalla wents a car load or half a car load of the he had Now the question arises Is the transportation of a car-load or half a car-load from the east to Virginia C ty or Walla Walla to be regarded as "under subs'antially the sauke circumstances and conditions" as the transportation of a train load from the east to San Francisco or Portland? Probably it will not to so regarded. Then the term nal points to which the heaviest unbroken shipments are made may get lower rates than the intermediate points to which small shipments are made.

Again. A man wants to send a small lot of Intober from Portland to some point in Idaho, or further un. Another man wants to send a large lot of tember from Fortland to the same point. Now will the transportation of the small lot and the larger lot be held to be under substantially the same circums ances and conditions." And on what principles is it to be decided when the circumstances and conditions in such cases are substantially the same?

The more one studies the inter-state commerce bill the more he may incline to the opin-ion that its principal result will be the opportu-nity it effers to railways to unload their dead-head list.

HANGING WOMEN.

Mrs. Druse was hanged yesterday in New York state for the murder of her husband in December, 1884. The murspred man was a shift-less, lazy, good-for nothing farmer, who was possessed of some probrity. His murderess was a Irail little woman, and her companions in crime were her daugh er Mary aged 19, now an trime were ner danga as mary aged 11, now serving a life term for her share in the crime, her son Leorge aged 10, and a hulf-witted nephew aged 12 years. The two boys turned state's evidence, the daughter on her own confession received a life scatence. Disuse was at breakfast, his daughter at a signal from her neather them. mother threw a rope around her father and tip-ping backwards his chair, tied him to the floor. Her mother put in revolver while head and fried. Then the boys came in and fire Druse handed the revolver to the half-witted nephew and directed him to shoot which he did twice, each shot taking effect. Then Mrs Druse cared an ex and began chopping off her has d's head, the man planding for his life say-"Pon't Roxy, don't." Then the mother and daughter with the help of a man, still at large, Gaugner with the help of a man, at it at large, cut up the body, fed part of it to the hogs, burned part of it and hid the remains in a utill pond. Mrs. Druse was freed and convicted in September, 1885, the dephilon was affirmed by the court of appeals, and she was sentenced to be hanged Becember 29, 1886, but Gly Hill reprieved her until yesterday to give the New York lagislature a change to was a will abolich and prieved her until yesterday to give the New York legislature a chance to pass a bill abolishing the death penalty for women. The judiciary committee of the legislature reported this bill adversity. This report was approved by the legislature by a vote of 73 to 30. The report fairly says that it anybody ought to be hanged for murder women are as fairly subject as men to the death penalty. Of course any lenity to women, because of sex, would be a premium bifered for fumle bouncies. As it stands now, women female bouncides. As it stands now, women fare better under the law than men, for, except in the set where clearly there are no extenualing cfromesances to exome a barbarons orime, women are seldom convicted of murder. If there is any excuse at all for len ty women secure the advantage of the sentimental argu-ment, rather than men. The fact that Gov. Cleveland commuted the sentence of Mrs. Haight, who deliberately murdered her hus-band to get his life insurance, and that Mrs. Runkle, who was hanged for murler thirty seven years ago, was the last victim of the gallows among quite a large number of female murderers in New York state, proves that while women do not vote, they are treated more tonderly by the new man men, who do vote The origin of this doctrine of lenity for women lies in the fac' that they are generally spared, as are children in war because both are non comba-ants, but when women or boys take arms and cause to be non con batants, they are shot withcrase to be non con batanta, they are shot without mercy, and so when they commat murder they are fairly deserving of death for their

A father who takes to h s boy of lo, and tries, by the tale of the own severe experience, to per spede his son to avo a too lab habits and serious errors of progreent, selion is rewarded by attention and obedience—counsel goes for nothing, the boy, even when he fally believes his father, seems privoteely bent on repearing the follies of his parent, and te enacting his costiv experience. The father says, "My soo, that pile of old straw has been threezed over and over again, and no human being ever found any wheat in it it is mere stubble if you thresh it take my word for it you will have only your labor for your panns you will be covered with chaif and dust you will find it as profiless and stupld an employment as attempting to gather sunbeams from cucumbers. The boy, either in his con-cett or his stupidity, thirts he would like to re-peat his father's expert nee, and prove that there are unquestionably surbeams in cucum bers, but that the father didn't have the talent requisite for getting them out. So the boy laboriously threshes out all the piles of old straw he whacks himself over the head with his fiail, just as his father did he gets nothing but chaff, dust and fatigue for his obstinate folly in refusing to listen to he fatter's warn-ing that nobody seer d or ever will get any appreciable wheat out o'old straw, nor extract a single sunbeam out of a mullon of cummbers. The boy who is deaf to his father's experience and thinks he can whip chall and get wheat and charm sunbeams out of cucumbers, stands for the prohibitionst to-day who in face of the experience and the conclusions of the best thinkers and statemen. of Europe and America, persists in blowing up the same old soap bubbles to make a rambow, in threshing the same old stubble that has yielded nothing but chaff and dust under the fialls of two centuries of reformers, in trying to capture the same old cluster sunbeams out of the same old seed cutcumber Problemon seed in as complete contempt by ill able political economists as the search for the philosopher's stone or the El Dorado. There is nothing new in the se-called ph losophy of prohibition, it is among 'the very oldest of human experiments; the record of its fallure runs back as far as we have any historic records; the principle of prohibition, as applied to hu-man government, was illustrated by constant effort and unbroken failure in the middle ages, and even then it was nothing but old straw that Sparts and Rome bad threshed for centuries to no practical purpose England once tried 1. by imposing so enormous a tax on gin as to make its purchase by the common people impossible, and the result was a scene of popular turbus lence and riot that compelled Walpole to consent to its repeal Under various names this sort of legislation has been tried in Europe and America, and always with the same result.

RLPLISENTATION AND PROPERTY

The new amondment to the Massach sects state constitution, abolishing the political of $1 every other year, as a prerequisite of voting strikes a blow at the surviva! of the doctrine that rep esentation is only for on the basis of property. The his ery of this reform manterest-ing Massachusetts originally required that a man in not be presented of a freehold extente of the annual facours of $15 or of an estate of the raine of $200, in order to vote Rhode Island required that the voter should have a freshold required that the voter should have a freshold of the value of 3200, or an amount rent of 10 shillings. New York that he should no set a freshold of the value of $100 or rent a tenement of the precivenine of 40 shillings and actually now taxes to the state. New Jersey that he should have property worth $250, Maryland that he should have a freshold of fifty acres or $150. he should have a freehold of hity acres or should have a freehold of hits acres, while the exceptions with different in its upon a freehold or the possesion of other property, like New Hampehire, Pennsylvania and theoryla, required that a man should pay a poll tax before he could avertise that a mythous I adde the first country. exercise the suffrage | Under the first constitu-tion of Massachuset a no person was eligible to the governorship unless he was seized in his own right of a freehold within the commonweal b of the value of $5000, or to a seat in the legislature unless he had a freehold within the town which he represented valued at $600, or ratable real estate to the value of $1000 in Now Hemphitze, reversely the rest to the legislature at the legislature of the value of $1000 in Now Hemphitze, reversely the rest to the value of $1000 in Now Hemphitze, reversely the rest to the value of $1000 in Now Hemphitze, reversely the rest to the value of $1000 in Now Hemphitze, reversely the rest to the value of $1000 in Now Hemphitze, reversely the rest to the rest t New Hampshire a representative in the legisla-ture was once required to have a property qual-fication of at leas $300, a sensior $1000 or a grown $200 or a member of the assembly, and $000 in a member of the basembly, and $5000 in a member of the legislative council or gerernor. Maryland had almost identically the same system, while South Carolina recognized sinvery by allowing a man to be elected to the legislature who could show either $750 worth of property, or its equivalent in land and negroes New Hampshire abolished the tax test in 1762, feering and Maryland only a few years later. Marsachusetts and New York gave up the property test in 1821, and the latter state the tax test in 1821. Rew Jersey abolished the property test in 1821, and the latter state the tax test in 1821, and Connecticut in the following test in 1844, and Connecticut in the following year. In Rhode island the property test still servives, so far as foreign-born citizens are concerned, their right to the suffrage depending upon the possession of a free hold valued at 5134, or renting for $7 a year, while the native-born vote upon paying a poll tax. Massachusetta, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Georgia and Tenne-see still cling to the tax test. Massachusetta is about to repeal it, and then there will be but five states out of librity cight that damand nevive states out of thirty eight that demand nay-thing in the nature of tax on the suffrage from the cutzen! The cull of this tax is that it keeps the honest, poor voters away from the polls and persuades the unprincipled poor voters to tell their votes to pay their taxes. In the last Butler campaign it is said the sum of $20,000 was paid in a lump to the tax collector of Braton by the manager of the democratic canves.

The promotion of Lt. Greely, who has just been appointed a brigadier general and chief signal officer to succeed General Hazen, is or usignal officer to nucreed General Hazen, is cru-clead severely by the army. It is considered an extraordinary, indeed almost an outraged us thing that a man who served in the war with-out distinction, and whose service in the north was merely sensational, should be passed over the heads of a thousand efficers and be placed upon a level with G bbon, Stanley, Wilhox, Mites and above a host of others who gated distinction in the field. It would seem, certain-ly, that rewards of this kind ought to be given to men who won honors in the war and who cised severety by the aimy. It is considered an extraordinary, indeed almost a no divage use thing that a man who served in the war without distraction, and whose service in the north was merely sensational, should be passed over the heade of a thousand officers and he placed upon a leavel with 6 bloot, Stanley, Wilcox, Miles and above a host of others who galoed distinction in the field. It would seem, cartainty, that rewards of this kind ought to be given to men who won bonors in the war and who have been kept in the subordinate grades not because they have not earned promotion, but because they have not earned promotion is resulted the demand for separation of the signal bureaus from the war department. In the present stant is almost wholly a weather service not more military in character than the light house service. Bathonally it has far more connection with the department of the interior than with the war department. The claim that military isc. pline is a sesential to its efficiency is a fooling to the event to which such designeed of this accident of this accident of the extent to which such designeed before the extent to which such designeed of th national inquests of these outrages is useless. Such inquests will do no good whatever. The country has acquiesced top long in suppression of suffrage in eight or ten states, and in the deeds of outrage and violence attending eight suppression, to care about the matter now Nothing the proposed law could do would effect anything, and the bull ought to be rejected, as doubless! will be, not, however, for the absurd cased that it would "destroy the while science of the constitution," he asserted by Mr brorge and his political associates, but because the remedy it proposes is wholly ampracticable

Me (en. R B Potter died on the 19th uit, at Newport, & I His death was the indirect on sequence of the sovere wounds he received dur ing the war of the rebellion. Gen Potter was the sen of Alenzo Potter, hishop of Pennsy sa nu His grandfuther was Res, Dr Nott, at one time president of Luten college, and Hay Dr Huward Potter of New York is his brother Gen Potter entered the army as lieutenint oil onel of the Fifty first New York. He was se-verely wounded at the battle of Newbern, again wounded at Antictam, and in the assault on Po-teraburg, April 2 187e, he received what was at the time supposed to be a mortal wound the cese to be major-general of volunteers, and his personal gallantry and capacity as division com-mander in the Ninth corpe at Knoxville and at the Wilderness won the warm praise of Grant and Halleck, and he was a great favorite with and Halleck, and he was a great involve with Lincein and Stanton. On the wedding day of his second marriage, in September, 1865, Stanton e-nt him the full commission of major-general H.s motto was "Per coutro ad astra." His death reminds us that many good soldiers, from Admiral Nelson down to Col Holson, have often been the sons of clergymen.

It may interest some of the people of Oregon to learn that the leading members of the retual admiration society of the state senset, Careon, Simon, Sigits and Miller, accompanied by Hirsch as grand master, have gone on an excursion to the eastern states, doubtless to boost to their great megul there of the achievements of the late session and to lar plans for future tramphs in polities and legislation in Oregin. The programme may now be outlined for Hirsch for the senate in 1888, and for Mitchell again in 1899.

It sunderstood that the governor has decided to make Hon. R. F. Gibbons, the defeated candidate for secretary of state, the democratic member of the railroad commission. This seems to be a good year for defeated candidates

The expenses of the legislative session have not yet been figured up, but it is believed that they will amount to about $33,000.

THE BOARD OF IMMIGRATION

For reasons that are generally pre-ty-well in-derstood The Oregonian objects to abolishing the board, and with a hypocritical surved takes up-the cry about leaving the immigrants at the more of real estate agents and special are sharps. The real estate men of Oregon are not necessarily the odious set of ogres that the Ore-gonian would evidently have its readers believe —Portland News

-Portional News
The pulpose of the above is to make it appear that the words in quotation marks are frie OneGONIAN's own in fact they appeared in a reput of a joint legisliting committee and This Onetoo NIAN published that report, with a in introductory paragrapy stating just what "T ye A very contemptible thing is the Portland Acces of it would not fire to observe each a relating the services." But mo c conten pixtle still will it appear whe?

But mo c conten pittle still will tappear when the rasons that we use it a stacks upon the number tool board are examined. These reasons may not be very generally understood. The occurrences of its own words since nothing that pertains to so contemptable a thing is of much interest to the public that for Origionan will make them very generally understood right now very generally understood right now some time ago. Col. Hamilton went down to the rooms of the board and requested that the board tale. So expires of the beans mining edition of his logus paper and pay him $50 therefor. He was told that the board had to the money to expend and moreover that it wasn't the kind of paper that was wanted for immigrants who were chiefly agricultural setters. Also, that the legislature would probably full to make an app optiation for the beard and the He a bill therefor should passythe governor we'ld proposity full to hake an app optiation of a right was still declined. Since then the board and the He beard and the solutions to the beard and the solution to the board was the board and the solution to the board was the board and the solution to the board was the board and the board paper has lost no opportunity for a us, at the board, and asson is of the representation of the board board. The offer was still declined. Since then the logue paper has lost no opportunity for a 6 m, at the board, at a mone to the members of the board of logisteries of the nembers of the board of logisteries of his early of logisteries to base the board of trade and as such have declined to recreat them selves to base the board of trade to take a 1d pay for a wheblarrow load or trade to take a 1d pay for a wheblarrow load or trade to take a 1d pay for a wheblarrow load or trade to take a 1d pay also have been subjected to its malicious attacks. It cow was the beneath of a select cotarie, simply as a money making concern. Bogus journalism discovered that it was mable to make money out of the board 2nd hence these tears. Among all the mean things of this world, there is nothing so mean as the mendicant hemspaper. An honest begar may be endured, but this kind of thing is an intolerable mulsance.

"BIT" AND "PICAYUNE."

OLIMPIA, W. T., Feb. 27, 1887, TO THE EDITOR OF THE CREE I noticed some time since in your paper an an answer to a correspondent as to the origin an answer to a correspondent as to the origin of the term "bit" as applied to the coin or value of 123% cepts, in which you say in substance (I juste from memory) that it came from the Span-ish rext, being one-sighth of a dellar, hence a bit or part of a dellar. Your answer does not ist rept, being one-cighth of a dollar, hence a bit or part of a dollar. Your answer does not fully answer the question. Any subsidiary coin—a half dollar, quarter dollar, dime, half dime or cent; is just as much a part or bit of a dollar sea a 12% cent piece.

The term "bit" as applied to one-cighth of a dollar originated in a practice which prevailed some bitly years ago in the southern and west sen States when Maxican coin constituted the chief after currency and small change was scarce, of outling dollars into eight pieces and states into four pieces. These parts were called bite, hence a dollar was eight bite, a half four the and a quarter two bits. The writer has often seen specimens of this "cut money," at it was called, though not in circulation within his time. The matter may not be of special impuriance, but I suppose the inquirer had some reason for seaking the information and I thin that it should be furnished to him and to The Oheschian.

Sinch we are on the subject I will ask you to give the origin of the term "picayune," as applied to and designating the coin of 6% cents to value.

Webliter's dictionary says the word "picayune" is from the Carib language.

It was stated a few days since that there would be an advance within ten days in real cante of 15 and 25 per cent. The statement made was based on reliable information, and has elready been vertised within a much shorter time. In some instances there has been quadvance of 50 per cent. Lots that have been selling for $100 and $125 have been advanced to $150 and $200. Thransfers and deeds in East Portland during the week ending Saturday have been remarkable for this time of the year, amounting to $18,200. There have been some inquiries for lots as far out as Mount Tabor, but the tendency seems to be in the direction of a bloss and Holladay's addition. It is expected there will be a blish movement this week. Yesterday more new faces were seen in the real estate offices than usual. There seemed considerable excitement among buyers. The building on the corner of Third and J was discovered to be on fire in the Third and J was discovered to be on fire in the rear portion. The Pioneer engine company terred out and the flares were soon under control. Just how the fire originated cheild not be ascertained. The house belonged to Mrs. Brown, a widow, and it is thought to be insured. In getting at the fire, which seemed to have been in the partitions, a good deal of cutting was necessary. There was some farmitude in the house. The rear part of the house seemed to have burnt considerably. It was but one block from the engite house. A Mr. Bio deworth had been occupying the house, and had been moving his furniture.

John Murphy, who was repently sent to the county juli for fitteen days for larceny from Rest Portland, was to-day taken to Albina, where he was bound over in the soun of $500 to answer to the grand jury for stealing a gotd watch and chain. Murphy, to his trial before Recorder Nowell, stated he was recently from $500 ton. Recorder Newell, stated he was recently from Spekane.

Good progress was making in plauking L street, but work will again have to be suspended, owing to getting out of number. The commissioner says if he had the lumber he could go ahead with fourth street. On a light day this street is full of teaus and, with the proceed rotten condition of the planking, it becomes the committee on streets and paulic property to rustle around and procure the lumber. It is projected that the places where the readway has settled below the established grade to revise the settled below the established grade to revise the
